

2021

CompSci
dScience

PhD Programme
Seminar

Quality Hotel Olavsgaard
2-3 December

CompSci and dScience PhD Programme Seminar

Programme

Thursday, 2 December

08:30 Departure from Blindern
Meeting point: In front of the Physics Building

09:00 Arrival at the Quality Hotel Olavsgaard
Registration. Coffee

09:30 Welcome to the seminar
Anders Malthe-Sørenssen, professor, Center for Computing in Science Education
Morten Dæhlen, centre leader, Centre for Computational and Data Science (dScience)

Diversity Icebreaker

Linda T. S. Westgaard, adviser, studies section and ForVei
Ilan Dehli Villanger, senior adviser, studies section and ForVei

A tool for self-reflection on your preferences for interaction, communication and problem-solving styles in addition to learning a shared language that helps in communication and team working.

11:30 Lunch

12:30 Welcome to the University of Oslo
Knut Mørken, professor, Vice Dean (Studies and Education)

A brief introduction to the University of Oslo and the Faculty of Mathematics and Natural Sciences.

Onboarding: getting the best starting point for your doctoral education

Jessica Lönn-Stensrud, PhD, head of section for learning development, Library of medicine and science at UiO
Matthew Good, PhD, senior academic librarian, head of the Digital Scholarship Center at UiO

A brief overview of some of the resources and tools available to you as a PhD candidate at the University of Oslo

Break

Career: the training programme

Anders Malthes-Sørensen, professor, Center for Computing in Science Education

Cecilie Linea Ellefsen, administrative coordinator, Centre for Computational and Data Science (dScience)

An introduction to the CompSci project training programme and to the dScience activities.

Career: getting the most out of your doctoral education

Vivienne Lumayag, Career advisor, The Career Services at UiO

Marianne Fuglestrand, Career advisor and course coordinator, The Career Services at UiO

Do you know how to describe your skills and competences, or if your career prospects are in line with your own values? Here we will provide you with the tools and know-how on how to self-evaluate your values and skills, which is essential for your continuous professional development and in making strategic career choices.

Break

Cross-cultural communication

Sølvi Haavik, adviser, studies section MN Faculty

- 18:00 Personal time
- 19:00 Aperitif in the “Ballsalen”
- 19:30 Dinner in the “Ballsalen”

Friday, 3 December

06:30 – 09:00 Breakfast

10:00 Professional inspiration – Academia

Marianne Fyhn, professor, Department of Biosciences

Petter Nielsen, associate professor, Department of Informatics

Two faculty members share their stories on how they structured their career and which key point decisions they made to get them where they are today.

Professional inspiration – PhD candidate

Titus Casademont, doctoral research fellow, Department of Technology Systems

Professional inspiration – Q&A

Break

How to give and receive feedback

Linda T. S. Westgaard, adviser, studies section and ForVei

Ilan Dehli Villanger, senior adviser, studies section and ForVei

Getting and receiving feedback is a big part of both your professional and private life. Being able to give valuable feedback, and tackle cases of critical and negative feedback is important.

13:00 Lunch

What do you need most for succeeding?

Linda T. S. Westgaard, adviser, studies section and ForVei

Ilan Dehli Villanger, senior adviser, studies section and ForVei

Evaluation (Nettskjema)

14:45 Departure for Blindern